

Drag and drop the causes of conflict. The most common ones go at the top, the least common at the bottom.

Cut out the causes and put them on the diamond

One person hurts another person's friend

Two people have had an argument or fight before.

Someone is being racist or sexist

Someone wants something that the other person's got

One person is angry about something unconnected.

It's all a misunderstanding

Someone cheats in a game

Someone cheats in a game

One person in the argument is just a bad person