

* - Cut out the cards and put them in order from 0-6

Once you have ordered the numbers use objects to show what each digit is worth. Then encourage your child to close their eyes whilst the adult turns over a digit card. Ask the child what number is missing? They can use the digits cards to count on or count the objects of the missing digit. Repeat this several times. You can swap roles and your child can be the teacher and check your answer is correct.
